

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A cyclone type dust collecting apparatus of a vacuum cleaner. The apparatus includes a lower cyclone body for centrifuging and collecting large-sized foreign substances contained in inhaled outside air. At least one upper cyclone body is disposed at an upper portion of the lower cyclone body for centrifuging and collecting small-sized foreign substances contained in air
5 discharged from the lower cyclone body. Inhaled foreign substances are sequentially centrifuged in order of size thereof, by the lower and upper cyclone bodies.